

14th Annual ACMO/CCI-T
Condominium Conference
NOVEMBER 5TH AND 6TH, 2010

Hilton Suites
Toronto/Markham Conference Centre & Spa
6500 Warden Avenue, Markham, ON

DIRECTIONS FOR A NEW DECADE
Staying Ahead of the Curve!

Left to Right: Ryan Lock; Larry Holmes; CCI-T President, Armand Conant; Deputy Minister, George Ross; ACMO President, Chris Antipas; Brian Horlick; Gordon Chong and Dean McCabe.

ACMO President and Conference Chair, Chris Antipas, welcomes delegates to the 14th Annual Condominium Conference.

The 14th Annual CCI/ACMO Joint Condominium Conference was held on November 5th and 6th at the Markham Hilton Suites Hotel. From all accounts and as evidenced by the high turnout, the conference was a huge success!

The conference kick off took place on the morning of November 5th with Mr. George Ross, the Deputy Minister of the Ministry of Business and Consumer Services presenting welcoming remarks. On behalf of the Ministry Mr. Ross provided an update from the Ministry with specific references to the HST. The crowd of delegates were eager to hear his message and to commence two days of networking, learning and visiting suppliers on the trade show floor. This year's theme of "Directions for a New Decade: Staying Ahead of the Curve" provided a look into the future with such session topics as: "Rapid Fire Update of Legislation That Affects Condos – What Was, What Is and What Might Be", "The Move to High Performance Buildings" and "Building Responsible Digital Communities". In all, there were fifteen sessions and learning opportunities spread over the two-day period including the ever-popular Round Table Discussion tables first introduced at the 2008 conference. The presentation on early Saturday morning by Retired Major

Educational sessions were the main focus of the conference and over 12 sessions on various topics were offered this year.

Round table discussions offered small group settings the opportunity to ask the experts questions on various topics.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

General Lewis McKenzie was perhaps the overall highlight of the conference, as he inspired delegates with leadership wisdom. We extend our sincere appreciation to the 68 speakers and moderators who participated this year and to all of the committee members from both ACMO and CCI who contributed countless volunteer hours planning to ensure the success of the annual conference.

The wrap-up luncheon and closing session: “Condo Law Update Supersession” once again provided the traditional ‘grande finale’ of the conference and it was a huge hit! Congratulations and thanks to moderators Tasso Eracles and John Oakes for a job very well done.

An integral part of the conference is the trade show. Over ninety exhibitors were on hand this year to display a wide array of products and services and their support of the industry is well noted and appreciated. In case you missed any of them, be sure to check the conference website at www.condoconference.ca for a full list of exhibitors along with their contact information.

A sincere thanks is also offered to our conference partner, Rogers Cable. Their financial support significantly increases our ability to offer quality programming at reasonable prices each year. Our partnership with Rogers and their commitment toward condominium education is truly appreciated.

Mark your calendars now for next year’s conference taking place on Friday, November 4th, and Saturday, November 5th, 2011 at our new venue the Toronto Congress Center on Dixon Road. The move to new facilities will allow for the continued growth and expansion of the conference and trade show. We hope to see you there!

CCI-T President, Armand Conant and ACMO President, Chris Antipas, present Deputy Minister, George Ross with a working draft of the Legislative Brief.

Keynote Presenter (Retired) Major General Lewis McKenzie.

Presenters Rob Giesbrecht, Debbie Bellinger and Brian Horlick at the Closing Legal Supersession.

The trade show offered information on new services and products as well as valuable networking time.